

Student Benchmark Data

THE GLASGOW
SCHOOL OF ART

2014-15

Overview

- This report provides a summary of equality and diversity statistics for GSA 2014/15, and compares these with the Scottish and UK averages in higher education and those of other small specialist institutions.
- The report is used by GSA to monitor changes and developments in the diversity of the student body, to identify trends and the effectiveness of the measures taken by GSA to address these where necessary.
- This report does not contain data relating to sexual orientation, religion and belief, or gender identity. This data is not consistently collected at a national level, and cannot therefore be benchmarked.

Key points

- The percentage of UK domiciled students from BAME groups studying at GSA has risen slightly above the Scottish sector average but remains well below that of the average for the UK and other small specialist institution.
- The total proportion of students at GSA from BAME groups has stayed steady over the last 5 years at between 17- 18% (excluding GSA students studying at SIT)
- The percentage of students disclosing disability at GSA remains broadly consistent with that of other small specialist institutions and significantly higher than the Scottish and UK HEI averages.
